SITES OF INTEREST VISITED

La Pointe du Hoc: on June 6th 1944 at 7:11 am, the 225 men of Lieutenant colonel James Rudder's 2nd Rangers battalion landed on the shingle shore at the bottom of the cliff.

Omaha Beach: also called "Bloody Omaha", there the allies suffered the highest number of casualties. The 5th army corps of the general Gerow was chosen to land there.

The American war cemetery of Colleville-sur-Mer: this 70-hectare site was granted for life by France to the United States. It shelters the bodies of the Americans soldiers who died during the D-Day Landings and the Battle of Normandy. 9 387 white marble gravestones are perfectly aligned on the field overlooking Omaha beach.

"Normandy's 100 Days": film projection at Arromanches 360 circular cinema.

FREEDOM TOUR

Relive the story of the day that changed the 20th century: after your guided visit of the Caen Mémorial museum, you will be welcomed at the Arromanches 360 circular cinema for a showing of the film Normandy's 100 Days directly followed by a guided visit.
